HIGHWAY A BOON TO ALL TOURISTS

Is Being Built From Claremore to Siloam Springs at Present.

ATTRACTIONS MANY

Will Open Into Ozark Trail With Direct Connection to Tulsa.

A scenic highway that will open to Tulsa all the natural wonders of the southwest is being built from Claremore to Siloam Springs, Ark. At Claremore the road will connect with the Ozark trail and form a direct route to this city.

It is doubtful if any road west of the Mississippi will have as many attractions for tourists as this highway.
Connections may be made at Siloam Springs with other routes of the Ozark trail which lead through the most beautiful sections of Arkansas, Missouri and Kansas.

The transition from the prairie country of western Oklahoma to the rugged mountainous district on the east of the state is made over the new road at Salina, Okla. Here a new free bridge is being built over the Grand river. It is called "Tao Ga-way to the Spavinaw," as it is the passageway to the Spavinaw mountains. It will be ready for traffic about December 1.

A fisherman's paradise exists along the territory of the road. The best trout streams of the country, Salina creek and Spavinaw creek—are easily made accessible by means of the highway. Salina creek flows into the Grand river at Salina, Okla., and Spavinaw flows into the Grand river at Spavinaw, Ark. A branch road by a branch road of the highway now under construction.

These streams are truly "clear as crystal." Thousands of the flumy tribe abide in their depths. Poor roads have always kept them out of the reach of fishermen in this vicinity, but with a fine hard-surfaced highway it will be only a short trip to the home of the delicate flavored trout.

Beginning at Siloam Springs, Ark., the new road crosses into Oklahoma and serves the following towns: Flint, Kansas, Leach, Rose, Salina, Pryor, Claremore, Catoosa and Tulsa. The highway will be completed in the early spring.

GAS FLOWS BUT NOT FOR THEM

Plaintiffs to Suit for Lease Alleges Present Occupant Unimpaired Their Rights.

F. R. Ufer is defendant in a suit filed in the district court yesterday to obtain possession of an oil lease near Turley. The plaintiffs are Retta M.
Allsup, T. J. Allsup and F. A. Haver.
The Allsup's, who are owners of the land involved, allege that on September 22 of this year they gave a lease on forty acres of land near Turley to Ufer but on the next day Ufer forcibly moved a drilling outfit onto the land and began operations to find oil and gas. Ufer was successful and a large gas well was struck on the land.

The plaintiffs declare that gas is now being sold from the lease and ask that Ufer be required to return all profits. They also ask that a receiver be appointed to take charge of the lease and that Ufer be enjoined from further operations.

HASTEN TRIAL OF OSCAR M'DANIEL

Thirteen Jurors Selected to Judge Guilt of Attorney Charged With Covicide.

ST. JOSEPH, Mo., Oct. 23.—Unexpected dispatch characterized today's session of the trial of Oscar D.
McDaniel, prosecuting attorney of Buchanan county, charged with the murder of his wife. Before court adjourned late today 13 jurors had been selected. They will become a part of the special panel of forty from which the 12 jurors will be chosen.
Only four of the 17 men examined were excused.

The questions of John T. Barker, attorney-general of Missouri, whose appearance today as head of the prosecution, was a surprise for Mr. Mc-Daniel and his attorneys, indicated that the state's case against the accused prosecutor would be of a circumstantial nature.

The Bluffer.

Mother—The bell, daughter—the door bell—is ringing.
Agnes—For goodness sake! It's Charlie! Here, mother, let me have your broom and dustcloth and head rag till I let him in!

BARNUM WAS RIGHT.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Oct. 23.
Many thousands of letters, each containing 10 cents, are pouring into the postoffice daily from women in various parts of the country who have joined in an "endless chain" scheme promoted by the so-called National Brotherhood exchange.
Federal agents are searching for officers of the "exchange" who are wanted for using the mail to defraud. A room in a local business block to which all the letters are addressed, was suddenly vacated three weeks ago, the authorities say.
To every woman who would send 10 cents in silver and write five friends urging them to join in the chain the "exchange" promised a "new 1917 model silk petticoat."
"The volume of mail for the "exchange" is rapidly growing," said Postmaster Purdy, "and today we received 25,000 letters containing 25,000 dimes. Thousands of the letters have been returned to the writers, but a large majority carry no return marks and as a result the dead letter office is becoming clogged. Other mail channels of the local office are choked daily by the influx of mail for the "exchange."

The 5c Loaf Must Go

Bakers and Consumers Agree That the Smaller Size Is An Economic Mistake

The size of the nickel loaf has been so reduced by the increased cost of ingredients, that it is no longer desirable from a culinary standpoint. The 5-cent loaf is of less uniform quality than the 10-cent loaf; it dries out more quickly than the larger size, and it is of a less desirable form for use in the home, hotel or restaurant.

"It takes a certain quantity of dough to make the most edible loaf," said a prominent Tulsa baker. "It used to be that the baker could buy the material at prices which would permit him to make a fair sized loaf for a nickel, without sacrificing any of the flavors and nutriment which are the aim and the pride of the baker's art. But within the last few months, the various materials used by the bakers have increased in cost on an average of about 75 per cent. So now the 5c loaf has to be made so small that it is undesirable from the standpoint of both the consumer and the baker."

It has been established that the expense of baking, wrapping and delivering the small sized loaf is just the same as the larger loaf. This is another factor which has had its effect upon diminishing the little loaf.

It is said that in the future the standard sizes of loaves of bakers' bread in Tulsa will be the 10c loaf. There will be no change from the present price of the large loaf—10c.

Some idea of how the cost of bread production has grown may be had from the following table, showing the advances in the prices of materials at wholesale in Tulsa since July, 1916:

|-------------------------------|--------|--------|
| White Flour, barrel | $5.00 | $8.50 | | Rye Flour, barrel | 4.00 | 7.75 | | Cooking Oil, pound | .10 | .14 | | Milk, condensed and sweetened | .06 | .09 |
| Lard, pound | .12 | .16 |
| Sugar, per hundred | 7.50 | 7.75 | | Eggs, case, 30 dozen | 6.00 | 9.50 | | Waxed Paper, pound | .09 | .17 | | Feed, per hundred | 1.25 | 1.75 |

There is no disposition on the part of the bakers to increase the price of bread without increasing the size of the loaf. The best value in the market is the large 10-cent loaf. It is the standard of quantity and quality. The ingredients mix to better advantage, forming a superior fine-grained bread, the flavor of which is not lost by rapid drying out. Keep it in the waxed wrapper or an air-tight vessel till used. From every standpoint of economy and good taste

It Is to Your Advantage to Order the 10 Cent Loaf

Economy in the Big 10 Cent Loaf

Users Get More in Quantity and Quality of Bread in the Larger Size

When users of bakers' bread realize that the 10-cent loaf is distinctly superior in flavor and keeping qualities to loaves of smaller size, the 10-cent loaf will be wanted universally. Many users already have made that discovery and heartily approve the bakers' decision to abandon the old 5-cent loaf. The 10-cent size will taste better and keep better than the old 5-cent loaf.

Most bakers have decided to discontinue the 5-cent loaf because the increasing price of raw materials has necessitated reducing its size to a point where it is no longer desirable either from a culinary or economic standpoint. With leading brands of flour costing the baker $3.25 and $3.50 increase in price per barrel and other baking ingredients proportionately advanced since July, there could no longer be any profit in the old 5-cent loaf.

The careful housewife can readily prove that in quantity, as well as quality, the 10-cent loaf is the more economical size. It used to be that some housekeepers bought the smaller loaf because the larger size was not all consumed in a day. Now, when each loaf comes in a sanitary, air-tight wrapper, it is an easy matter to keep a portion of a loaf perfectly fresh by rewrapping it in its original covering.

It is to the bakers' interest that users give preference to the 10-cent loaf, because the bakers can produce it most economically and can afford to give the most for the money in that size—a 10-cent loaf costs no more to bake, wrap and deliver than a smaller loaf. It is to the interest of the user to give preference to the big loaf because it is the most for the money and highest in quality.

In the interest of everyone concerned, user and producer alike, Bakers urge to the Bread Consumer the 10-cent loaf!

Order Now If You Want a Grafonola For Christmas
